

Yes! We Still Own Record

Andover retains its record for twins in schools.

A year ago, Woburn made claim to having the most sets of twins in a public school with ten. The Woburn claim was published in a Boston newspaper, and indicated it had broken the record for a single school building formerly held by another community.

At the time, Sanborn school rightfully refuted the claim and produced 11 sets of twins attending classes there and the picture to prove the right to the record was published in the TOWNSMAN.

This year, the Doherty school breaks all records with 12 sets of twins perambulating the corridors and classrooms.

At the Sanborn, due to transfers resulting from the opening of the West school, some of the twins were assigned to other schools.

The photo at the left is living proof that the Doherty school has taken the crown from Sanborn and retained the title for Andover.

While we're at it, we might just as well claim the record for an overall public school system, since with the scattering of other sets of twins in the other schools, Andover certainly must be tops in doubles.

SAC Out

Station Will Be Razed

The former central fire station on Park street, will be abandoned as a drop-in center for youths and demolished.

This was the decision of the selectmen Monday night and the board voted to order the Student Activity Center (SAC) group to leave the premises by Sunday and that demolition proceedings be instituted on Monday.

Selectman Sidney P. White was opposed to the move, stating that he felt the young people and their parents should be given the opportunity to show what they could do as far as repairing the building and making it safe.

Selectman Roger W. Collins, who served on a special committee to study the SAC problem and attempt to find an alternate location, made the motion to proceed with the demolition of the property in accordance with the wishes of town meeting.

Collins asked the SAC group to return to the high school or junior high school buildings to continue their program and wait until March town meeting at which time an alternate site may be proposed.

The SAC group, headed by Gerry Faro and James Carroll, who is a faculty advisor to the group, met Tuesday afternoon and plan another meeting today to examine a future course.

Among the decisions made Tuesday were the formation of three committees. One is to continue examination of alternate sites. A second committee is to seek public support to possibly save the station for continued use. A third group is to work toward publicizing the drop-in center and its activities.

Collins as one of the three members of the board who worked with the SAC group said the board was completely in favor of the

Academies Studying Merger

Phillips and Abbot Academies today launched a collaborative study to see if the two schools can work more closely together in coeducation.

The project was announced jointly by John M. Kemper, Headmaster of Phillips, a boys' school of 875 students, and Donald A. Gordon, Principal of Abbot, a girls' school of 290 students.

The areas of exploration will involve the possibilities of having each school remain independent, with coordinated classes, or of merging the two schools into a single institution. No date was set for a final decision.

Joint committees including alumni, alumnae, administrations, faculty, students, and their parents, will undertake the study.

In a joint statement, the head-

AT SERVICE. Members of local veterans organizations and their families paid tribute to the veteran dead of all wars during solemn ceremonies conducted Wednesday at Spring Grove cemetery. Participants included, left to right, John Doherty, speaker, Commander Benjamin C. Brown of American Legion Post 8 and Rev. Joseph A. Gill, O.S.A., who offered the prayer and benediction.

Reminds Of Living Dead

Calling attention to the prisoners of war, persons missing in action and the injured and infirm veterans in hospitals, John C. Doherty asked his fellow veterans to rededicate their efforts to the remembrance of "the living dead," during brief solemn Veterans Day ceremonies at Spring Grove cemetery Wednesday morning.

Doherty, a veteran of the Vietnam conflict where he was decorated with three Purple Hearts, spoke of the tribute paid to the veterans of all wars, whose gravestones were located in Spring Grove and countless other cemeteries.

But, he asked, what about those who are held prisoner, receiving inhumane treatment at the hands of the Southeast Asian foe. Or, what about those families who have been notified of a son, brother or father, missing in action. Too there are those who are permanently injured due to the sacrifices for freedom.

These are to be equally remembered, the speaker said, asking all to search their memory and conscience fully, to determine, "if we are doing everything we should for those who are still living," yet neglected or forgotten. In asking for attention to these

Golden Jubilarians

Mr. and Mrs. J. Everett Collins, 35 Summer St., were recently honored by their family on the observance of their 50th wedding anniversary.

The golden jubilee observance was a dinner reception for the immediate family held at the Lanam club.

The couple was married Oct. 29, 1920 at South Church.

Mr. Collins served for 21 years as selectman in Andover and 14 years as a representative in the Great and General Court.

He has been widely known as a leading choral director, having directed the Andover Male choir for many years, and doing choral work in the Andover public schools.

The couple has four sons, John of Arlington, Va., James of Hadley, Roger W. of Andover and George Raymond of New York City, N.Y.

Included in the honoring party in addition to the immediate family were two bridesmaids and the flower girl from the wedding.

Physical Education, Music Staffs To Address Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Merrimack Valley Association for Children with Learning Disabilities will be held on Nov. 16, 8 p.m., at the Ballard Vale United Church.

A panel of Physical Education and Music teachers from the Andover School system will talk about the successful program with perceptually handicapped children in process in the Andover system.

The panel will be made up of Donald Dunn, director of physical education, Donald Huston, physical education instructor in the elementary grades, and Miss Judith Palmer, music instructor. Miss Palmer has been very successfully using the "Orff-Schulwerk Program" which emphasizes the physical involvement in learning.

Mr. Huston, who is in his third year at Andover, initiated a before school class in physical education at the Shawheen School, which met three mornings a week. He also worked with these children in the summer program.

Miss Palmer, who is in her fourth year at Andover, has done extensive graduate work in music, and has been very successful with special education classes and with perceptually handicapped children. She too has participated in the summer program.

mer program. She will talk about the Orff program which stresses body movement and rhythmic flexibility, spatial and temporal awareness, and auditory awareness. Arff-Schulwerk is a philosophy of music learning for all children -- and the program includes speech rhythms and instrumental improvisation, creative and interpretive body movement. Such a program will be available soon in all the public elementary schools.

The association held its regular board of directors meeting at the home of Mrs. Helen Rindge. Officers and directors include: Dr. Raymond Sparks, Mrs. Eleanor Maletta, Mrs. Maureen Lawton, Mr. Martin Sanborn, Mrs. Adena Cicione, Mrs. Martha Eaton, Mrs. Barbara Mitton, Mrs. Edith Sanborn, Neil Mitton, C. Stanley Rich, Mrs. Lynn Loscutoff and Mrs. Rita Leigh.

The public is invited to attend.

Bus To Symphony Planned

The Andover Committee of the Council of Friends of the Boston Symphony Orchestra has decided because of the parking difficulties in Boston, plus air pollution, to run an Andover Symphony bus.

Starting Friday, Nov. 13, for the remaining 16 concerts, the bus will leave Andover from Salem Street, at the Phillips Academy tower, promptly at 10:30 a.m. each Friday.

On the way in, the bus will stop at Lechemere to drop off any passengers who wish to go to the downtown Boston area before the Symphony begins at 2 p.m. The bus will also make a stop between Arlington Street and Copley

Square, and another at Symphony Hall; then it will go on to terminate its intown trip at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, if any passengers want to start their day there.

The return trip will be non-stop from Symphony Hall back to Salem Street, Andover, directly after the concert.

The bus service was initiated to serve symphony goers, many of whom have reserved round trip bus seats for the symphony season, which lasts until April 1.

However, there are at the moment some extra seats available which can be reserved by non-symphony goers, or occasional symphony goers, on a single round-trip basis.

Anyone interested in reserving a seat on the Symphony bus may call Miss Ruth Hayes, 28 Phillips St., before 9 a.m. or after 6 p.m. on one of the weekdays before each trip. These seats will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis each week.

Miss Hayes noted that there would be no symphony concerts, and thus no bus trip, on the following Fridays during the season: Nov. 20, Dec. 25, Jan. 15, Feb. 19 and March 19.

AVAILMENT... the French call it. Old timers call it sitting back. But it works when an expert squirts through a turn at high speed for Warren Miller's all new annual 90-minute color ski film, "The Sound of Winter," screening at the Andover Memorial Auditorium on November 19 at 8 p.m.

Ski Program Planned

The approach of winter and its ski season will be heralded by the Lawrencean Ski Club on Thursday, Nov. 19, at 8 p.m. when they will again present Warren Miller in person to narrate his smashing new 90-minute color ski adventure film, "The Sound of Winter," at Andover Memorial Auditorium.

Andover and surrounding area ski buffs will again thrill to the world's leading ski cinematographer's humor as he takes them around the world of skiing in color with full musical score from "A", for Aspen to "Z" for Zermatt.

World champions skiing in acres of trackless powder snow... the "Unteachables" undergoing the rigors of ski instruction... skiing with thousands of people on a Japanese slope... the hilarious antics of a lost deer hunter on skis... these are just some of the scenes from this excellent ski film.

Even the snowmobilers will be happy to witness some unbelievable scenes of somersaulting snowmobiles at West Yellowstone. There is something for everyone in the family in Miller's new movie.

Preceding the film will be a fashion show of the newest styles in ski and apres ski wear available at local and up-country sportswear and specialty shops. Lawrencean Ski Club members will serve as models.

Following the show the club members will meet with theatergoers at a party with music for dancing at Briarcliff, (Andover K of C), Osgood St.

Tickets are available by contacting Mrs. John Avery, telephone 475-5617, or any club member. Some seats will also be available at the door.

Gymnasts To Perform Here

Gymnastics is an old sport, but interest hasn't seemed to grab the sports fans of the United States. The Springfield College gymnastic exhibition team is one of those rare animals in gymnastics, a team that usually plays before packed houses.

It will perform in Andover, Saturday, Nov. 14 at 7:30 p.m. at the high school.

The team has a great reputation, built through 60 years of performances throughout the Eastern section of the United States, and including a performance in Mexico and Puerto Rico.

And it's no wonder. This group of young men and women combine athletic ability and showmanship into a two hour show that guarantees to make gymnastic fans of at least 90 percent of the viewers.

The team is scheduled three to four years in advance, and repeat shows in one locale are rare because of this.

Springfield has some of the finest gymnasts in the country. Also due to showoff are the clowns, who offer some comedy to relax spectators part way through the breathtaking show.

The women's team will also perform the Olympic events, led by the team captain Mary Ni.

Added to the straight gymnastics and the clown routine will be the tableaux, with the young men performing statues as originated by former Coach Leslie J. Judd. They have become a traditional part of the show, and a classic in the field of creative art.

There's also a folk dance, performed by the men and women, and the men's triple balance team, also a traditional part of the exhibitions, with three men working together in an event requiring great teamwork, balance and strength.

Tickets for the performance are available through the athletic department at the high school.

Gale Systems, Inc., leading manufacturers of advanced design wave soldering equipment announced today the purchase of a major interest by Richard H. Moody and William N. Perry, principals of the P. W. Moody Company of Andover.

Mr. Moody, new president of Gale, stated that substantial working capital has been provided to expand vigorously present sales activity and to accelerate market introduction of previously developed but unpublicized products.

Gale's founder, Robert Fitzsimmons, will retain his active management role in many aspects of company operations, Mr. Moody said. Mr. Perry, formerly with the P. W. Moody Co. has been appointed treasurer.

In November, Gale will move into expanded quarters at Dale Street.

Let Us Be Thankful

It is good to give thanks unto the Lord.

Psalm 92:1

... And I am thankful for my dog friend, too. Amen.

LIVING at a bewildering pace, afflicted with a fevered restlessness and subject to an alarming sense of impending world upheaval, we are fast developing a cynical outlook on life and rapidly becoming devoid of faith and hope. We have largely lost our moral bearings and are adrift on an uncharted course. Our age is one of unexampled spiritual deterioration. At such a time, the return of Thanksgiving Day has a message of peculiar urgency. It serves to divert our thoughts from the tormenting problems that living in such an era raises and with which we are struggling, and to direct our thoughts to a discerning realization of the manifold blessings that God has provided us.

How few of us, even in our worst hours of low spirits when the burden of living seems almost unbearable, can really and truly say, after sober reflection and intelligent appraisal, that life is not essentially good when rightly lived. Let us give thought therefore, to the exclusion of all else, to those things in life which should make for our well-being, peace and happiness—thought to the blessings which God has showered upon us. Surely they cannot fail in their aggregate impressiveness to fill us with a feeling of deep thankfulness to the Giver.

Yes, indeed, on the day set apart for the worshipful observance, let us take to heart the words of the psalmist: "It is good to give thanks unto the Lord." But let our thanksgiving be not confined to this one day of the year. May it be more than a cut-flower thanksgiving like rootless blossoms that flourish for a day and then wither and perish. Rather, let it be as the efflorescence of a growing plant, deep rooted in the nourishing soil of spiritual understanding and a worshipful attitude toward God.

On account of the special mission and major objective of our Society, one of God's provisions for human welfare and happiness might appropriately be singled out for particular thankfulness—the animals with which He has peopled our world. What life would have been, what it would be today, without them is beyond the power of human imagination to conceive. They have served man in countless ways since his first appearance on earth and have no doubt in early days played no minor part in his actual survival. Our lives and theirs are inextricably blended with the elements of God's infinite design. To them we owe an inextinguishable debt of gratitude to be repaid in thoughtfulness, kindness and compassion. Yet what a monstrous reproach it is that we are paying this debt by allowing uncounted millions of them to be sacrificed each year in the grim laboratories of merciless experimenters.

Farnum, the Society's President, Boston lawyer and Former Assistant Attorney General of the United States. It is offered to readers of this newspaper as a few thoughts for serious consideration.

Music To Our Ears

By Edward P. Grigoli

In selecting a string instrument it is important to check: size of instrument, materials and construction, quality of strings, attachments and bow.

String instruments are manufactured in various, standardized sizes. These are identified as full, three-quarter, half and in quarter and one-eighth size, for very small children who may start at pre-school age.

It is strongly recommended that all string instruments be checked by a competent person before a purchase. The back, ribs, neck, scroll, top and type of wood are the many materials to be checked.

Construction is another important factor. All joints and edges must be glued tightly and reinforced with four corner blocks and solid upper and lower blocks. All cracks should be properly glued and reinforced.

Trimmings such as: pegs, finger board, nut, saddle, tailpiece, bridge and sound post should definitely be checked by a skilled technician.

Each violin and viola should be fitted with a chin rest made of ebony, boxwood, or plastic.

End pins for cello and bass should be made of metal and large set screws should be provided for easy and firm control.

Strings should always be fresh and properly matched.

The bow should be strong, flexible and well-balanced. The stick of the bow should be made of well seasoned pernambuco wood. Bows made of aluminum or well-seasoned Brazilwood are also adequate. The fittings should consist of an ebony frog with a metal liner and an ivory tip. The grips should consist of tightly wound sterling silver wire with thumb leather at the lower end and a leather ring at the upper end. The hair on the bow should be plentiful. When the hair is worn or sparse it should be replaced immediately.

Each instrument should be inspected once a year for possible sound post adjustment.

Never leave the instrument near a hot radiator and avoid extreme changes of temperatures. Strings should always be kept in tune and the instrument and bow should be kept in its case when not in use.

Mrs. Carl A. Wetterberg

Second Term As President

Mrs. Carl A. Wetterberg, 51 Summer St., the former Glennie Parrott of Lynn, is starting her second term as president of the Lynn English High School Alumni Association. It is the second largest high school alumni association in the country. There are over 30,000 members. Thirty-one graduated from the school in 1889 and five-hundred-eighty-nine in 1970. A new city record in scholarships was announced by Principal Carl A. Polumbo last year. $352,090 was awarded to more than 80 outstanding seniors.

Monthly meetings are held by the Association and plans are made for a banquet and reunion the third Saturday in May each year. Approximately one thousand attend the banquet as all classes are represented. Each five-year class is an "honor" one and the twenty-five year class is the "host."

Mrs. Wetterberg recently retired as invoice analyst, from Raytheon Company, after 16 1/2 years. A retirement party, given by her co-workers, was held at the Merrimack Valley Motor Inn. She was presented with a wrist watch and money.

Co-Author Of Books

Rev. John P. O'Malley, O.S.A., member of the Department of Education at Merrimack College, is the co-author of two English texts recently published by Harcourt, Brace Jovanovich, Inc. The books, A Book of Nonfiction - 1 and A Book of Nonfiction - 2, were written in collaboration with Rosemary Cianciolo, a curriculum supervisor in Ridgefield, Conn.

The texts are two of twenty books comprising the new multi-level paperback series, Perspectives in Literature, a non-graded but graduated literary program for secondary school students. Throughout the nonfiction books and the entire series, the language arts have been integrated with the teaching of literature.

A Book of Nonfiction - 1 opens with a general introduction that traces the historical development and evaluation of the essay. The rest of the text is divided into three main sections: the familiar essay, the expository essay, and the true narrative.

The introduction to A Book of Nonfiction - 2 explains the types of nonfiction, forms of discourse, techniques of writing, and literary analysis. The selections that follow are illustrative of the general scheme in the introduction. Among the authors represented in these texts are John Steinbeck,

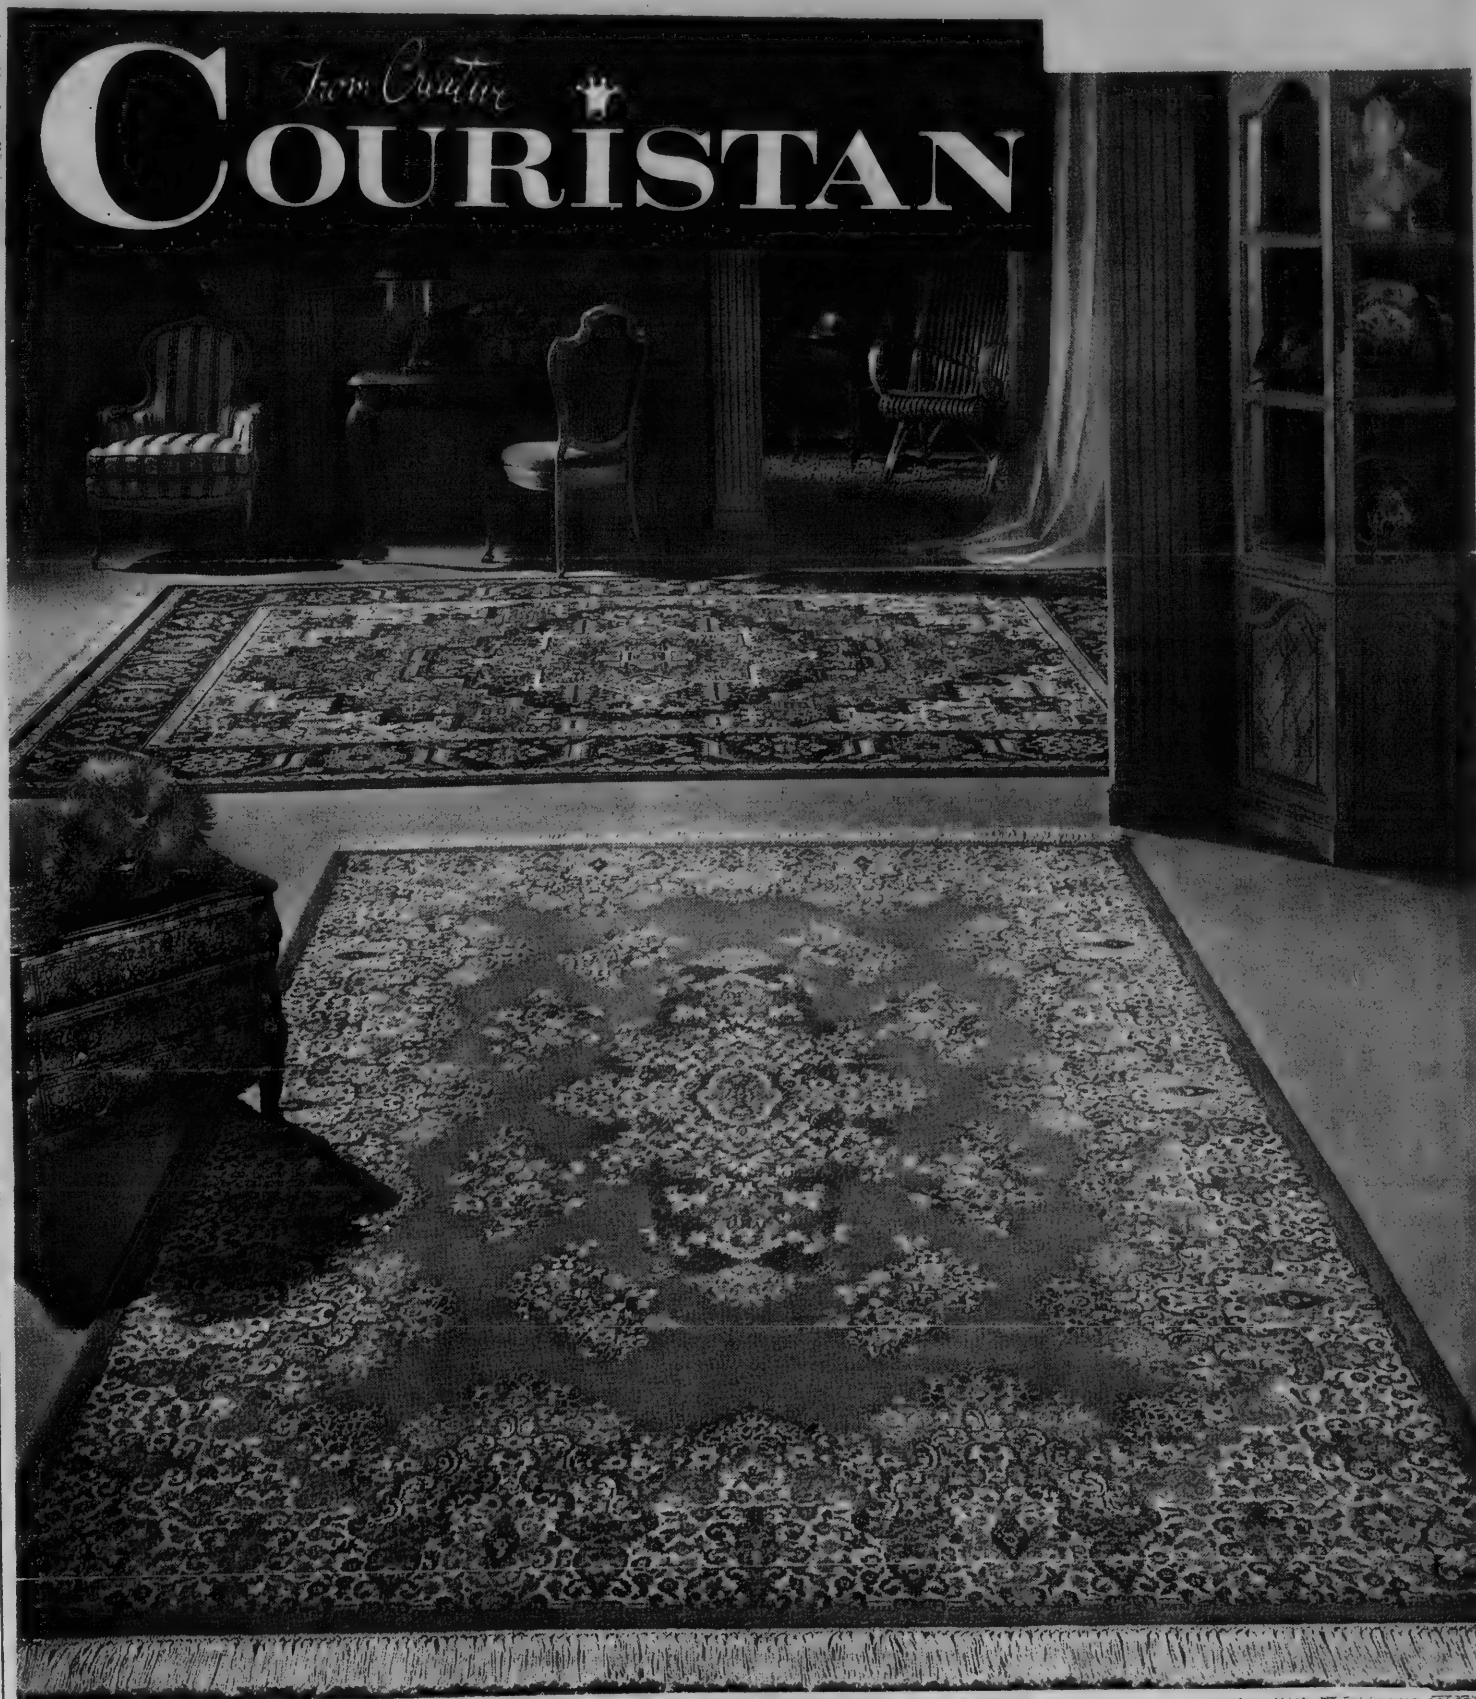

G. K. Chesterton, Gilbert Highet, Brendan Behan, E. B. White, Bruce Catton, Russell Baker, and Loren Eiseley.

The material for the textbooks grew out of the courses Father O'Malley taught at Archbishop Carroll High School in Washington and Austin Preparatory School.

Fr. O'Malley was appointed to the faculty of Merrimack College in August, 1969. He has also taught at the Catholic University of America, from which he received his doctorate. Besides teaching in the Education Department, Fr. O'Malley is also Director of Student Activities.

Childrens Theater Planned

The Garrett Players, Inc. of Greater Lawrence are about to embark on their first complete season involving children's theatre.

During the past eight years, the Garrett has enjoyed success in presenting adult theatre to the Greater Lawrence community. Last season saw the birth of theatre aimed primarily at the children of Lawrence. Under the direction of Mrs. Pamela Umbro, Ruth Newton's "Jack and the Giant" was successfully played to capacity audiences. The adults had fun presenting this play and the children loved the audience participation.

This year Garrett will present two shows for children.

The Garrett Players would also like to announce the beginning of their weekly "Children's Workshop." This workshop is held at Odd Fellows Hall, 7 Hampshire St., Methuen, on eight consecutive Saturday mornings from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. It is devoted to youngsters from 8 to 15 years of age who enjoy acting and would like to develop stage skills. If you would like to enroll your child in this class, please call Mrs. Pamela Umbro at 688-0654 while memberships are still available.

ABC Graduate Is Serving As A Teaching Assistant

While some so-called social activists confine their activities to yelling and marching, Angel M. Dominguez, a Dartmouth College sophomore from Andover, is quietly working to create a basis for lasting social betterment. Accenting the positive, Mr. Dominguez is spending the current academic term away from the campus here, serving as a teaching assistant in Jersey City, N.J.

Dartmouth's William Jewett Tucker Foundation is sponsoring the program, which this fall has provided internships to forty-eight undergraduates, seeking to combine academic pursuits and personal encounter with the critical social and moral issues of our time. The student interns remain full-time students at Dartmouth and receive a term's credit for their work, which is carried on under the direction of local teachers who evaluate their activity in the local schools and community projects and who also work closely with members of the Dartmouth faculty. This fall's interns will be working in places such as Los Angeles, Boston, Chicago, Richmond, and several towns in New England.

Mr. Dominguez and the other Jersey City interns did extensive reading in classroom technique last year, and underwent lengthy orientation, both in Hanover and in Jersey City. Once in Jersey City, the interns, who live together in a residence run by a Dartmouth faculty member, involve themselves in three sub-programs. Some interns spend the school day as teacher aides in Public School #22 (a 2,000 pupil Kindergarten through Eighth Grade ghetto school), and some act as teaching assistants at the St. Bridget's School (a school with an 80 percent Spanish-speaking population). Still other interns assist in efforts there to upgrade courses in science and math. In the evening hours, the interns use their residence as a tutoring station for their students, or act as leaders in community projects. In addition to these activities, Mr. Dominguez will be expected to write two papers in fulfillment of their academic requirements for the term, with one of these being a personal account of his stay in Jersey City. Upon returning to Hanover next term, Mr. Dominguez and the others in his group will act as discussion leaders for the orientation of the next group of interns.

Mr. Dominguez is the son of Mr.

and Mrs. Robert Klie of 17 Rolling Ridge Road. He was graduated from Andover High School in 1969 as an ABC student.

Dr. Suld To Address Coffee House

Dr. Henry Suld, assistant professor of Religious Studies at Merrimack College is to be the guest speaker at the People's Choice Coffee House this Friday evening, Nov. 13, at 8:30 p.m. People's Choice meets at the Unitarian Universalist Church in Andover, 244 Lowell St. (Rt. 133).

The theme of this program will be: "Eastern Religions . . . Their Message to the Western World . . ." Dr. Suld has recently returned from an extensive tour of India where he discussed Hinduism with scholars and villagers and took part in some religious ceremonies. He will bring tape recordings and slide pictures to enrich the evenings experience. This program is being designed not only to communicate information but to establish some of the mood, feeling and purpose of Eastern religions.

Dr. Suld is an ordained Baptist minister who has served several parishes in Vermont. He is a graduate of Andover-Newton Theological School and later earned his Master and Doctorial degrees at McGill University in Montreal. In addition to being a minister, Biblical scholar, expert in Asian Religions and college professor, Dr. Suld is fluent in seven different languages.

People's Choice is open to the general public.

VETERANS DAY

men, Doherty said:

"If today is to have any true significance or real meaning, it should serve to remind all Americans that there are many veterans still living to whom a debt is owed no less than that owed to our departed brothers. It is not pleasant to contemplate thousands of permanently hospitalized men who never achieved the lasting honor of battlefield death or the great good fortune of a safe return home. It is, sad to say, easy to put out of mind the several thousand servicemen either missing in action or known to be prisoners of war in the current conflict."Because we do not daily experience the agony, uncertainty,and heartbreak of their families and loved ones, we tend to let them slip from our memory."How bitterly ironic it is that we gratefully lavish so much fond remembrance and solemn honor on the dead, while we almost totally neglect the living victims of war. These men were there when we needed them most. Where are we today when they ask of us far, far less than we ever asked of them?"The program opened with a prayer by Rev. Joseph Gill, O.S.A., of St. Augustine's parish. Following the address, Doherty, who is DESPERATE EFFORT. Two Andover High defenders make a desperate effort at a Burlington pass attempt during the closing moments of last Saturday's gridiron battle in Burlington, which the Golden Warriors lost 8-7. The local club has won only a single game this year as they prepare for their two traditional rivalry contests against Methuen and North Andover.

ABC NEWCOMERS are pictured before poster of Dr. Martin Luther King in Andover's ABC House. Archie McLean and Tony Richardson are two of the new Andover High School sophomores in the program, which has high school teacher Jerome Lake as resident director.

Year four also brings the local program into a new period of more complete and independent community financial support, past the three-year period of substantial foundation seed funds.

ABC will benefit, for example, from donations at a public musical performance at the Phillips Academy Chapel this Sunday at 4 p.m. The PA Chorus, Abbot Academy's Fidelio singers, the joint orchestras and Dr. Lorene Banta, PA organist, will combine to present an entire program of musical settings for the 23rd Psalm for the benefit of the town's public school ABC Program.

Christ Church has also dedicated the proceeds of its Harvest Supper Saturday evening, and the Christmas Fair, Dec. 5, to AEC, to swell the gifts pledged by donors to the ABC Committee's fund drive last spring.

Andover was the second community in the nation to establish an ABC public school program, to bring youths from disadvantaged educational backgrounds to live in Andover, and study in the high school. Thirteen communities, from Massachusetts to Minnesota, have since followed suit, with the program of the Andover ABC Committee suggested as a model, and seven more programs are projected for next year.

The new faces and personalities which join five veteran students at Andover's ABC House belong to a new senior, two new juniors, four new sophomores and only one "freshman" -- resident director Jerome Lake.

Lake is beginning his first year as resident director of the ABC House, with his wife and their three children: Laurie, 8, and Peter, 6, both students at the Doherty School, and Ian, 4 years old and very much at home. Lake, like his ABC predecessor William Deacon, is a biology teacher at Andover High.

Eugenio Concepcion, Andover ABC's new senior, claims Puerto Rico as his birthplace, Philadelphia as his home, and the Fred Pease family, 193 Main Street, as his host family. Each student living at the ABC dorm has a volunteer family with whom he can get away for occasional suppers, or weekends.

Gregory Ramos and Laurin Banner, both eleventh graders, are New Yorkers. The Elwyn Davis family, 151 Chestnut St. are Gregory's Andover family, and Laurin's host family are the Kim Porters, on Lowell St.

Three of ABC's new sophomores are southerners. Carnell Cooper and Archie McLean are cousins from Dillon, S.C.

The Allen Copelands, on Carisbrooke Lane, are Archie's Andover family, while the Richard St. Armands are host family to Cousin Carnell.

Oscar Gaines has the Ross Andersons, Fosters Pond Road, for an Andover host family, but he really hails from Memphis, Tenn. Sophomore Tony Richardson, on the other hand, comes all the way from Los Angeles, Calif. There are now ABC public school programs in 15 communities, spreading westward from Hanover, N.H. and Andover over the past five years, but not as far as the west coast yet.

The ABC newcomers join the veteran group of Tony King of Wilson, N.C., Lloyd Goodall of Richmond, Va., Kevin Lee of nearby Cambridge, and Nelson Torres and Jose Aponte of New York City, all old hands at the high school now. They are also frequently part of the scene at the homes of their host families -- the Dick Finnegan, the Samuel Rogers, the Leslie Bartows, the Peter Olneys and the George Bixbys.

Resident Director Jerry Lake became an Andover High teacher last year after nine years of teaching at the Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute. He and his

To Unfold Addition Plans

Doherty School Addition gym and cafeteria plans will be rolled out Monday in a 5 p.m. public meeting of the building committee in Town Hall.

The hope on all sides is that rolling out Architect Arthur Brown's latest plans will iron out almost all remaining differences between the school administration and the building committee on cafeteria traffic flow control, height of the gym ceiling, and the type of divider which will separate the gym's two teaching stations.

Solution of the cafeteria and gym traffic control problem seems close at hand. Building committee chairman James St. Germain called the administration ideas which Asst. Supt. Vaughn Clapp brought to the last meeting "Excellent. We don't want to give the community a school that the administration and teachers can't live with; the suggestions will help avoid congestion, crossing of cafeteria lines, and so forth."

St. Germain told the TOWNSMAN he expected an architect from Crimp, Brown and Fisher to bring new plans to Monday's meeting incorporating these ideas.

Still very much at issue is the gym ceiling height. School administrators hold that the proposed elevation -- 18 feet at the walls and 21 feet clear in the middle of the gym -- is not enough for some children's games, and certainly less than enough for adult use of the gym, under the school committee and administration philosophy of schools as community property for full community use. St. Germain, on the other hand, says that changing it would cost more, that for a second gym in a K-6 school, 18 feet high at the walls is plenty.

The wall that will divide the gym into two teaching stations, per School Building Assistance Commission suggestion, is also dividing the building committee from the school committee and administration.

Should it be a heavy flexible vinyl curtain (less desirable in administration eyes because of deadening of rebounds, possibility of collision in vigorous games and acoustical insufficiency) or should it be a portable, but solid dividing wall? This costs a lot more, the building committee points out.

The gym divider issue has less at stake than the first two issues, which involve changes in square footage, and thus involve more dollars.

The Doherty School PTO has taken an active interest in the proceedings so far, asking to be notified of Building Committee meetings, and staking out positions on issues, at meetings of the building committee and the school committee.

Plans for most of the Doherty School Addition are complete, approved and in the architects hands for working drawings.

However, the firm cannot go full steam ahead until plans for the cafeteria-gym area are settled, approved by the school committee as meeting educational requirements, and by the state's School Building Assistance Commission, which okays 40 percent state reimbursement of construction funds.

Pressure of time is seen as a powerful force acting on the school committee and the building committee to reconcile the valid educational and financial issues of the Doherty School Addition.

AIB Students Ready For Bloodmobile

Students at the Andover Institute of Business are organizing their forces for a bloodmobile tomorrow Friday, Nov. 13 at the school, 90 Main St.

They are aiming to surpass the record made last year at their first bloodmobile and would therefore invite and welcome parents and friends to be walk-ins between the hours of 9:30 and 3:30.

Robert Wentworth and Brenda Falas of the Student Senate are organizing the visit and recruiting donors. Robert Pelkey, director of activities, is serving as faculty advisor. The senior class secretarial students and the honor service fraternity will assist as hosts, registrars and typists under Red Cross supervision.

You can be a donor if you are between the ages of 18 and 67. Appointments may be made through the students or by calling the Andover Institute of Business 475-5151. The need for blood is as urgent as ever.

The Decision

The selectmen, we think, acted wisely this week in moving for demolition of the Central fire station, thus its removal as a drop-in center for the young people.

It was a difficult decision to be made, for any action in failing to support youthful endeavors could be looked upon as not politically beneficial.

The decision, in this case, however, showed that the members of the board finally faced with an ultimate decision, took initiative and acted in the best interests of the town.

The station is old, in need of repair, and was delegated to demolition by town meeting.

The young people were given use of the building for a temporary period of time.

Alternate locations were, for the time being, deemed inadvisable.

The selectmen, in their decision, promised the young people that they would work toward solution of their problem and hopefully come up with another location before the annual town meeting in March.

In the meantime, the young people were advised to return to the school buildings where the Student Activity Center program originated.

Many of the participants do not want use of the school buildings, which have all the facilities, and for which taxpayers have expended millions of dollars.

One young person at a recent meeting of the selectmen, in response to a question of why not use of the schools, replied, "school turns me off."

Frankly much of the youthful actions of the community turn us off, and we are not specifically centering attention on SAC or those who have used the fire station.

How much do the young of the community want?

Where is the time honored idea of going out and achieving something with a little effort.

At no time during the discussions of the past few months, were there many, if any parents in attendance at meetings.

Despite the availability of the drop in center for these past several weeks, there were still congregations of youths at "The Wall" in the Elm Square and throughout the downtown area.

How come the great need for a place to congregate, when the youthful exertion is still spent on street corners in nocturnal entertainment?

The fire station, a monstrosity which has served its purpose for many years, should be demolished, and now.

The selectmen, sympathetic to the requests of young people, expressed a desire to assist them in March. They have asked them to return to the use of the school buildings.

The board extended the use of the station for several weeks, before finally making the decision.

Certainly the youth of the community and their parents should stand by the decision.

The drop-in center served a minority of the community.

The majority decision of the board should be supported, since, all things considered, it serves Andover's needs best.

Good Show

Efforts of some young people in this community, some not even residents, is commendable.

We speak of the students from Andover High, Phillips and Abbott academies, who initiated the drive to collect paper and periodicals at the dump on weekends.

While they could be doing something else of a youthful venture, instead they have devoted time and energy to the collection of waste paper which is to be recycled.

Through this effort, they contribute heavily toward a modern day program which has become prominent under the heading of ecology.

That they take the time to perform this service to the community is worthy of comment and we commend them for their energy.

The paper is to be sold, but the financial benefits will not accrue to the young people.

Plans are to assist the town in an ecological way, either through informative materials, or the acquisition of equipment.

We mentioned that some were not residents. These are the dormitory students at the academies, who are assisting their temporarily adopted town.

Problems among the youth of today gain great headlines.

The efforts of young people such as those who took on the task of accumulating the papers and periodicals, seldom gain the notoriety deserved.

We applaud their efforts and encourage their continuance of service to the town.

Suggestion

With the inception of the Bancroft school, Andover went into what is considered the open school concept.

The idea is to allow the child to develop at his own learning level, as we understand it, thus confessing that modern education in some ways rather baffles us.

The program, no doubt, is evaluated, from time to time by administrators.

School committee members and others have asked for a complete evaluation of the new modern systems.

As a suggestion, possibly full evaluation could come from within Andover's borders.

The Shawheen school could be a good starting place, where youngsters there are not on the overall open school concept as yet.

Are they being deprived from a proper, modern education?

Are the youngsters in Bancroft and other schools where the open concept is in vogue, gaining a better education?

The answers could be forthcoming from a thorough examination of whether those in the structured classroom are better off than those in the "lofts."

Comparison could provide the answer which is needed as Andover looks to a future of new school construction and development of new educational methods.

It would provide the assurance that Andover is getting the most for its educational dollar.

Off The Top Of The Desk

Telephone directories, a most elusive volume on many occasions, is now the subject of concern by the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Recently, they have applied stickers on books chained to public telephone booths.

The sticker declares, "People would be lost without me . . . please don't take me away." Seems the directories installed at booths are continually missing, or mutilated, thus the reminder, which hopefully will work.

Edison invented the phonograph almost 100 years ago.

It was on Nov. 21, 1877, that the first instrument put forth recorded sound.

Wonder how Tom would feel, if he were to hear some of the sounds emanating from his magnificent machine today.

The tunes put forth on that first machine, we presume, were far from the ear shattering renditions coming from some of today's speakers.

Thanksgiving must be just around the corner, as evidenced by all the Christmas decorations going up.

Actually the area is a bit behind schedule with its public display preparations.

Many of the Boston areas already are strung with tinsel and usual holiday decor.

Just seems that Christmas gets closer every year, despite the date remaining the same.

The open burning law certainly provided for some unusual physical exercise for many this year.

Raking of the lawns required further action, such as bagging the leaves and taking them to the dump.

Some people accumulated as many as 130 bags on a Saturday which had to be disposed of -- no wonder our disposal sites are vanishing.

Disposal of some of the leaves was made to earth moving contractors who used the material for mulch.

From the newsletter of the Merrimack Valley Works of Western Electric, comes this item for those who play slot machines, where one person found a dial-a-jackpot in a telephone booth.

A slot machine player's fantasy recently came true for a Wisconsin man who put a dime into a coin phone to make a call: out tumbled a whole fistful of coins! The surprised customer turned out to be honest as well as lucky . . . he called the operator, described his good fortune, and then waited a half hour for a repairman to arrive, take the money and fix the over-generous coin phone.

The annual fall flower show presented by the Essex County Florists' Association at the Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute will be held this weekend -- Saturday, Nov. 14 from 1 to 9 p.m., and Sunday, Nov. 15 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The annual event is open to the public free of charge, and will be staged in Alumni Memorial Gymnasium.

Highlights of this year's show will feature formal gardens, competitive classes for cut flowers and potted plants, and colorful floral arrangements, large flowered chrysanthemums, carnations and hundreds of popular house plants for the winter season.

The school is located on Route 62 in Hathorne.

Down The Years

75 Years Ago - November, 1895

There was an exciting scene on the electric car Saturday night. One fellow causing a great disturbance was discharged from the car and shortly after discharged a revolver at the car but caused no damage.

The employees of the Boston and Maine railroad are about to go to school, including all trainmen, to assure they can properly handle their chores. All will be given physical examinations, particularly the trainmen who will be tested for color blindness.

Frank E. Gleason states that if the person, who removed the large pencil from his office, returns same, there will be no legal proceedings taken. The offender has been seen.

The waste paper boxes, provided by the A.V.I.S., have been installed in the post office. Now it is up to the public to use them properly.

The fourth grade of the Stowe school, beat the 'Merrymack' school of North Andover 16 to 0 last Saturday in a 'rush game.'

What Our Readers Say

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN
In these days our Police Departments are the victims of much criticism. However, we would like to take this moment for a word of well deserved praise.

Last Friday we hitchhiked from Burlington, Vt., to visit a family in Andover. Due to a late start and a few delays, we arrived at approximately 1 a.m., too late to wake our friends. With some hesitancy, I must admit, we turned to the police, hoping to convince them of the need for a place to stay until morning.

Your Sgt. Alfred Robb of the Andover Police Department showed us a hospitality and understanding that few of our peers would believe.

Sgt. Robb welcomed us warmly and escorted us to the cells as if we were arrivals at the Sheraton Hilton. We spent the next hour talking with Sgt. Robb as if he were the guy next door.

After they woke us up in the morning, and gave us directions, we headed off to a restaurant, and then to visit our friends, and tell them how unbelievably hospitable the Andover Police had been to strangers.

We would like to extend our gratitude to your Police Dept. and to Sgt. Robb in particular.

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN
Thru your column may I compliment the students of West Junior High school for their sincere interest in our recent State election.

I worked 50 hours in the Republican trailer located in the Municipal parking lot. My work was with adults, also, giving information to students debating and those making posters in their various classes.

I talked with more students from West Junior High school than any school in town. These students took their work seriously and did a fine job. They are certainly a credit to their parents and also to their teachers.

Furthermore, they respected me very much which made me happy -- trying to show them the right technique in campaigning. In a short period of time these same students will become voters thus helping to decide the destiny of our great country, the U.S.A.

Thanks again to wonderful students it was indeed a pleasure to work with you. I enjoyed every minute of it.

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN

By pleasant coincidence some answer to Dino Valz' timely letter in the Nov. 5 issue of the TOWNSMAN was supplied in the same issue: The front page report on the accomplishments of "the young ecologists trying to preserve Andover's disposal site and doing so in a manner that shall also save trees."

Congratulations to the young citizens and to public spirited Dino for his constant attention to our civic problems.

Perhaps next town meeting shall accept a resolution which acknowledges the work of these citizens of youth who are setting an example of civic responsibility for all.

READY FOR THE GAME. Phillips Academy closes out its season Saturday at Brothers field. Unbeaten throughout the season, their seven past victories are miniscule compared to their traditional clash with Phillips Exeter which brings the whole season into the single game on Saturday.

THE Game Is Saturday

Saturday is THE day.

Unbeaten Phillips Andover meets Phillips Exeter sporting a 3-2 won loss gridiron record in the traditional game, the 90th meeting of the two teams.

But Andover, seeking its first unbeaten season since 1959, will face a tough opponent, despite won-lost records, since the traditional rivalry, with the return of alumni, etc., wraps the season up entirely in one game.

Exeter will be holding a cautious eye on Andover's quarterback, Milt Holt, who has moved the Big Blue well all season.

The native of Hawaii has been pitching and running the Andover club all season, enough to overpower all opponents handily.

The series began in 1877 and finds Andover leading in the annual competition, 45-36, with eight tie games.

Exeter will be concentrating on containing Holt in the big game, feeling that defensively they may be able to overpower the Big Blue.

Coach Steve Sorota will have the Andover offensive at peak in the hopes of not only taking the big game, but chalking up another undefeated season.

At The Library

New Service

Beginning this month on Nov. 18 the library will present a film for Senior Citizens. The program will begin at 2 p.m. and will last approximately one hour. It will be held in the assembly hall of the library on the second floor. Any interested adults may attend, but the program is run particularly for the older citizens in cooperation with the Andover Haven. The first meeting will show the following films: Queen of Autumn; the Chrysanthemum in Japan; Russia (a film showing scenes between 1905 and 1910 of the last Tzar and his family and then modern Russia with modern housing, agriculture and industry) and a short animated 6 minute film called A Scrap of Paper and A Piece of String. All films are in color.

Clipping Service

Memorial Hall Library has subscribed to a new service which should help all persons interested in conservation, environmental quality, pollution and related matters keep up to date. The service includes news clippings from 7 or 8 newspapers, and some magazine articles, which are sent to the library twice a month, xeroxed and classified, by Boston Environment, Inc. which is headed by John Putnam. Boston Environment Inc. has an Environmental Information Center at the State Library in the State House and the clipping service emanates from there. This important reference tool will give activists in this field, as well as researchers an opportunity to follow what has been reported in the press on ecological matters for all sections of New England, the nation, and foreign countries. It is hoped that the clippings will be widely used, thus confirming the judgement of the library that this service is a wise investment. The material is now classified under the following subject headings: General Environmental, Water, Wetlands, Land, Pollution, Planning, Legal, Organization and Action.

Questions

The Reference Department at Memorial Hall Library will publish in the Andover Townsman each week a reference question which has been asked by an individual at the Reference Desk during the week just passed. You may call the library and tell the Reference Librarian if you think you know the answer. She will tell you if you are correct. Question of the week? Why do lobsters turn red when they are boiled?

For Those Of Us Who Are Older

There are still a few seats left on the Burlington bus trip scheduled for Nov. 19. Any An- dover senior citizen is eligible to join the group for this free trip. Call The Haven (475-3968).

Several members of The Haven Associates -- as the regular visitors to The Haven are called -- are interested in an escorted trip to New York, but they need a bus full to make it possible. Anyone interested in going should call The Haven for details and to reserve a place. The schedule calls for a three-day trip, leaving Andover Dec. 14 and returning Dec. 16. The trip includes staying at the Hotel Taft in New York City, a dinner at Patricia Murphy's, the Christmas Show at Radio City Music Hall, and free time for sight-seeing or shopping. All for $49.

Memorial Hall Library is begin- ning a series of films to be shown once a month for you at Memorial Hall Library in the upper hall. The first film is scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 18 at 2 p.m. No reservations are needed and all are welcome. Do plan to come and bring a friend. (There are two flights of stairs. Come early so you can take the stairs slowly).

Members of St. Robert's Church in West Andover called The Haven to announce they will provide transportation to their church fair from The Haven, Nov. 19 and 20.

ABC PROGRAM

wife, the former Mary Thankful Clawson, of Schenectady, N.Y., lived in Gloucester before moving into the ABC residence this fall.

Mrs. Lake describes her ABC life as "a lot of work, maybe, but enormous fun." There have been worries, as when Archie McLean was rushed to the hospital with an ailment that gave them a scare and then went away. Mrs.

McLean expressed gratitude for the services and support of Dr. Robert Ramsdell in this emergency.

"We've found all kinds of support and help already here. Dr. Doug Dunbar has the dentists in town lined up -- Dr. Bluin, Dr. Conroy, Dr. Gemmel, Dr. Himmer, Dr. Lamson, Dr. Schoonover, Dr. Secord, Dr. Skillings, Dr. Stowell and Dr. Swift; -- they each take a boy -- some two, -- and donate a certain number of hours of dental time to him. A Mrs. Alvin Zink called me recently and said she'd like to help with the mending. This is marvelous."

Merrimack Tutors

Director Lake noted the importance of the day-by-day presence and help of two Merrimack College students who serve as tutors.

David Ruscitti of Milford, a Merrimack junior and Ed Benoit, of Brockton, a senior, live at the ABC dorm and assist as tutors, while carrying a full academic load at the college.

Benoit and Ruscitti tutor the students who need help, Benoit and Ruscitti offer tutorial help, and in general act as elder brothers. Lake noted the especial importance of the tutors in helping the boys through the initial adaptation to the new community, a new school and more intensive academic standards than they have encountered before.

A new source of pride to Andover's ABC House: both Benoit and Ruscitti are listed this year in "Who's Who In American Colleges." There's a model for you!

FIRE STATION

program and felt it to be worthwhile. He said that the selectmen would work and fight for the group in finding a place and proposing it to the March town meeting.

He said that in the study made with the young people, there was evidence of a need for a drop-in center and that the activity should be developed with parental responsibility.

Cost of renovations was estimated at $6,500, with a possible reduction to $2,000 if volunteer services were available.

An alternate site, the former

Boston and Maine railroad depot was considered. The owner, Kenneth P. Thompson had agreed to make renovations there in order to meet safety and sanitary standards.

Robert Loffredo of SAC told the board that the fire station was more suitable since it was established, more centrally located and was larger than the railroad depot.

He said the cost of maintenance would be less at the station, and felt that the renovation estimated could be revised downward with volunteer assistance.

Collins, after making his motion, which was seconded by Selectman George Heseltine, commented that the decision was made based on a lack of funds at this time.

He said he disagreed with the idea of Town Manager J. Maynard Austin, that possibly the station should be retained until such time as a decision is made on a new town hall.

Austin had advocated retention of the building and its use by the young people for a while longer and an examination of municipal facilities is made.

Selectman William Stewart said he could not see holding up the demolition of the building any longer, noting that he felt the young people should have the initiative to do things on their own, regarding a drop-in center.

Carroll, told the board he felt they had gone back on a commitment to the young people. He said the board had promised to find an alternate site.

Collins and Chairman Robert A. Watters emphasized that the board's intent was to assist them and be prepared for action at the annual town meeting. In the meantime, the group was asked to return to the school, understanding that the board had allowed use of the fire station beyond the specified time.

Originally the group was allowed use of the building until schools reopened. An extension was made through Oct. 17 and when no alternate site was found, the board extended the use further until its Monday night meeting.

The future location for SAC activities now remains up in the air if the young people do not choose to use the school facilities.

Trim Down The SLIMLINE Way

Whether you wear a mini, midi, maxi or pantsuit, a slimmer, trimmer figure can do more for it, and for you. For the ultimate in slenderizing, Slimline Slenderizing Salon of Andover has the answer. In comfortable, private surroundings, you can lose inches without strenuous exercise, without tiring calisthenics, without dangerous crash diets, and in fact, without even disrobing.

Slimline's unique method of muscle toning through semi-passive exercise is accomplished through the use of machines such as the one shown above. This is the Gyro-flex machine, which consists of a movable foot harness and movable hand grips. It offers a marvelous way to do situps, firms up the abdomen and waist, firms the muscles and gets rid of loose flesh in the legs, and is good for the back. At Slimline, there are four additional pieces of equipment, each extremely valuable for different purposes. These machines give you the same benefit as exercising on your own, but with so much less exertion they are recommended by many doctors.

This is not a gym. Slimline's equipment is designed to firm and tone and will not develop un-feminine muscles. In addition, Slimline features a complete Sauna room, imported from Finland, with private showers and dressing rooms. The dry heat offered by the Sauna relieves tensions, helps in weight control and contributes to restful sleep.

This modern slenderizing salon is owned and operated by Mrs.

Paula Stiner of North Andover, a graduate of Mount St. Mary College in Hooksett, N. H. and formerly associated with a salon in North Carolina. She offers this salon exclusively for women, with private rooms for treatment, by appointment only. Open evenings and Saturday mornings for your convenience. Gift certificates are available.

You are invited to make an appointment for a free treatment and figure analysis. You have nothing to lose but inches. This unique slenderizing program can help you lose a whole dress size in just 10 treatments. Call Mrs.
Stiner at 475-7039 or visit Slimline Inc. located in the new building in the Shawsheen Plaza, in the rear of the Sunoco Station.

TAKEN TO THE CLEANERS. The Musgrove building, that controversial structure in Elm Square, currently under renovation, was literally taken to the cleaners last week. Workmen are shown giving the face of the building a thorough steam cleaning bringing back a shining coat as work continues on refurbishing of the structure.

Disposal Machine Demonstrated

Municipal officials from several surrounding communities visited Andover Tuesday for a demonstration of a new compacting machine developed by Case Manufacturing Co.

The machine has been designed for use at sanitary land-fill operations and was demonstrated at Andover's municipal disposal site.

With modern equipment needed to meet the requirements of new laws prohibiting open burning and also for compaction in operations once known as at the town dump, the firm has developed a machine which is designed to meet the times.

The machine compacted and covered the materials according to the prescribed methods of proper sanitary land-fill.

It is believed to be the first such machinery developed.

Bancroft Students Plant Blubs

Students at the Bancroft School planted spring flowering bulbs at the entrance of the school Nov. 3. This project was sponsored by the conservation committee of the Andover Garden Club and funded by the Bancroft P.T.A.

Mrs. Lyman Pope, Jr. and Mrs. Thomas Lamson assisted the following children with the planting: Paul Seeley, Lilly French, Bob Browitt, Cynthia Garrett, Caroline Chapell, Peter Lamson, Brad Hunt, Chris Pope, Patty Spiegel, and Rinika Coumans.

masters said:

"For two years we have had arrangements under which Phillips boys and Abbot girls could enroll in some courses at the other school. The question now arises whether and how to extend the opportunities for coeducation.

"The Phillips and Abbot Trustees have agreed that efforts to educate young men and women together should continue, but they recognize that they cannot decide on further action until a number of questions are resolved.

"Such questions concern cost implications and economies. They also concern what meshing of curricula would be needed, what social regulations should govern, and what is the best ratio of boys and girls."

Phillips Academy was founded in 1778 by Samuel Phillips of Andover and his brother, John Phillips of Exeter, N.H. It is the oldest and is considered pre-eminent among independent preparatory schools. Abbot Academy was founded in 1829 by a group of interested Andover citizens. It is the oldest incorporated girls' school in New England and has held a similar position in independent secondary education for young women.

Whistle May Again Sound

The fire whistle may once again sound in Andover.

Silenced since the fire station moved into its new quarters in the public safety center, the selectmen have asked the town manager and fire chief to look into the resumption of sounding the horn.

Selectman Sidney P. White made the suggestion and it was unanimously adopted by his colleagues.

White, in his suggestion said that the sounding of the alarm would signal firefighters in the area as to the location of a fire, particularly when a second alarm is called. He said that telephoning off-duty help in such instances seemed time consuming.

Also, White pointed out, the signal would be available for Civilian Defense emergencies and also notification to parents of no school days.

The traditional 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. signal has been absent from the town since the department moved to its new quarters.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin told the board, that if the signal were to be reinstituted, it would be necessary to examine the compressors. Possibly they will need replacement.

He said that the equipment for the sounding of the alarm, was still available.

He will examine the cost of reinstituting the alarm and report back to the board, along with the report of the fire chief.

Fire A Cost Is Factor

Cost of reinstating a fire whistle is current examination by Town Manager J. Maynard Austin and Selectman Henry L. Hilton.

The selectmen are considering the possibility of having the whistle sounded again, possibly at 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.

The alarm has been silent since the fire department moved into the new public safety center.

The town manager said that the current building on Park Street is too old and not in good condition to be moved to the new site.

The air tanks, which may be serviceable, may be a reduction in total cost.

The old horn was used for means of steam.

Should the whistle be reinstituted, a new system would be needed for more modern vehicles.

Any salvageable parts of the old station have been moved to the new station.

A final decision on the whistle is expected again, may be up to the town manager.

Austin explained that the cost may have to be either a budget item or a special article, since an investigation indicates the expense could not be covered by the general account.

To Begin Negotiations

Negotiations between Andover Education and the school committee to get underway next week.

The AEA, representing professional staff, is negotiating a new contract regarding salary and working conditions.

A letter from MacDonal, assistant superintendent of field services for the state Teachers Association, admitted a letter from R. Seifert, superintendent of schools, and the school committee requesting the meeting next week to begin on a "successor" agreement.

MacDonal will meet with the MTA at initial meeting of Mendelsohn of the school committee to represent the negotiation session.

The MTA offers a list of members of which the school committee is composed of professional staff.
